That there are persons in this Province who cherish grave misgivings as to whether the Dominion Government are really sincere in their expressed determination to build the Canadian Pacific Railway in the time agreed upon with the Pelegates from British Columbia, is b fact not to be denied. The world has always been tolerably well filled with unbelievers, men who unless they can see or feel a thing are constitutionally prone to doubt its existence; and the race is probably as numerous to-day as It ever was, nor is British Columbia with out its share of such persons. We, however, have never had any doubts whatever in reference to this matter. Those who entertain such fears are disposed to look at this vast undertaking more in the light of an enterprise intended for the special benefit of British Columbia. then as a great national scheme to open ap and develop the latent resources of half a continent. It is intended as one of the world's great highways, over which the products of the East will seek a market in the West, and the manufactures of the West be carried to supply the necessities of the East. It is therefore a mistake to suppose that the Dominion Government are going to build the railway simply to benefit British Columbia; but nevertheless this province will rosp a rich harvest of gain and advantages scarcely as yet dreamed of, by its construction. Without such a railway, Canada could never become more than a second or third rate Power; but with it he cannot fail to become one of the foremost commercial and maritime nations of the earth. This is the end at which Canadian statesmen aim, and it is for this that they are prepared to pledge the eredit of the Dominion for whatever sum of money may be necessary to carry the metheme to completion. The Dominion Government we believe to be thoroughly in carnest in this matter, and the way to which they propose to go about the work shows that they know well what they are doing. The Toronto Mail, in an article given in another column, adverting to this subject, says: "A slight will relieve the minds of over-sensitive scople. The estimated cost of the road a mader $100,000,000, but, making allowance for unexpected expenditures, the Company put it down at $105,-000,000." It will be universally admitted, continues our contemporary, that a great national road of this importance had to be taken up as a whole or not at all. bilt will also be admitted that some portions of the road are of more consewence than others. The Government recognizing the importance of both proof the whole line, but, in the first place, for those parts of it which will be of prime importance in opening up the fer-hould the Province be Represented in the Dominion Cabinet?

The transparent bosh to which our local contemporary gave the first place in his column on Wednesday, scarcely merits the compliment of refutation. His attack on the STANDARD and its chief editor we pass over, merely remarking that Mr. DeCosmos was, entil a month or two ago, the one patriot and statesman whom our contemporary praised above all others—except, of course, those who at that time held the Provincial purse-strings and "donated" occasionally.

But the implied assertion that the people of them.

A sli Parliament, (6 out of 200) and to reduce that by allowing one of our members to accept of a Cabinet appointment, would be to render the little influence we possess so extremely small, that it would be absolutely reducing to a cypher." One from six and nothing remains, is, it will be acknowledged, rather gurious arithmetic; but the assertion that, is accepting a seat in the Cabinet, a reprein accepting a seat in the Capinet, a repre-sentative loses his power to help his constit-uents, is more curious still. If a man can press the claims of his constituents in the floure, surely he can do so with much greater effect in the Cabinet, where the Esti-mates are drawn up and the course of the ent on the various questions settled. Government on the various questions settled. If an individual voice can have any weight in a chamber of fifteen or twenty. But it would be a waste of space to follow our confemporary further. His utter powerlessness to help or burt a cause, save so far as unreasoning abuse or fulsome flattery can do it, was apparent long ago.

How and When the Money for Construction will be Spent.

[From the Toronto Mail.]

There is a class of persons in Canada who, notwithstanding the strong terms in which the necessity for a Canadian Pacific road has been urged by the leading men and the newspapers of all parties, cannot rid themselves wholly of the fear that the Dominion may be undertaking more than it can salely accomplish in agreeing to build a through line of railway across the continent from Lake Nip-issing to the Pacific. The Government, recognizing the importance of bo h propositions, have provided for the building of the whole line, but, in the first place, for those parts of it which will be of prime importance in opening up the fertile territorities of the North-west. With this object in view, the first chief expenditures will be made upon the Lake Superior and Fort Garry section, and the Pembina Branch. The latter it was hoped to have completed this year. THE TICHBORNE TRIAL.

be, and he should be able, he said to prove it by irresistible evidence. Arthur Orton was the youngest son of a large family, and was baptized in 1834 at St. John's Wapping. In early life be was afflicted with St. Vitus's dance, and was sent a long sea voyage in order to endeavor to cure it. He left the feudant was the youth who was on board the Ocean. In January, 1849, Arthur Orton deserted the Ocean and went to an inland place named Melipilla, some distance from Valparaiso. Here he made the acquaintance of a for Vancouver Island. storekeeper named Thomas Castro, by whom he was kindly treated. While there a lock was cut from his hair, and that would be produced in the course of this case. He remained in and about Melipilla for two years, and left in February, 1851, under the name of oseph Castro. He embarked on board the essie Miller, bound from Valparaiso to London, where he arrived on the 12th of June, all of which having been bought cheap, will be sold at low prices. equaintance with his old friends and relaions. He had so increased in size during his absence that he was at once nickname ' fatty" "or bullocky Orton." A man named Lever weighed him and found be was over thirteen stone. This man would be called and say the defendant was the person be weighed, and Mary Ann Loder, the daughter of a respectable lighterman, would say the defendant was the man whose addresses she rejected in Wapping. In December, 1852, Arthur Orthur again left London, in the Middleton, for Hobart Town. Three persons were on board that vessel—John Lewis, James Peebles, boatswain; and Owen David Lewis, ordinary seaman. These persons would be called and would positively identify the defendent as Arthur Orton. The vessel arrived at Hobart Town iu April, 1853, and there Orton set up as a butcher, and witnesses would be called who had dealings with him, and who would swear to the defendant. It would also be shown that the defendant was in the service of Mr. Johnson, of Newbourne Park, Gipp's Land in the latter part of 1855 and subsequently in the service of Mr. Foster, of Boisdale. A man named Hopwood, who knew arthur Orton when in the service of both these gentlemen, would be called and identify the defendant as the same person. the Township of L'origual, Esq., Sheriff of the United Counties of Prescott and Russell.

One day, while walking in Wagga-Wagga, The defendant put his hand to his mouth and said, "Hush, I'm now called DeCastro. Let us go and have a drink." The learned counsel then went on to describe various incidents in the defendant's career in Australia, and to comment on the circumstances under which he first set up his claim to the Tichborne property. On the third day, describ ing the claimant's movements at Wapping soon after his arrival in England, the learned counsel traced him to Gravesend, commenting apon his seclusion, and the course which he took ascertain the whereabouts of Miss Loder and some members of her family. Amongst other incidents, allusion was made to his visiting the Swan at Alresford, disguised and in a false name, instead of going at once to the members of the family, as the real Sir The Indian who killed two squaws at Omito the Rocky Mountains. his cause were strongly remarked upon. his cause were strongly remarked upon. In the fourth daily instalment of his opening speech Mr. Hawkins passed under review the Claimant's proceedings in preparing his case. Great care was bestowed on elucidating the motives of the correspondence opened in 1867 with Don Castro, of Melipilla, on exposing the inconsistency of dates therein mentioned with those of the real Roger Tinhbarge's visit with those of the real Roger Tichborne's visit to Chili, and on examining the Claiman;'s various excuses for not continuing his journey to Melipilla. The twenty-five days'

Invoice to Close cross-examination which he underwent last year at the bands of the Attorney General anggested to Mr. Hawkins instances innumerable of incredible lapses of memory on the Claimant's part. He had been hopelessly wrong as to where he spent his childhood in Paris, as to all his early friends and asso-ciates, in all his recollections of Stonyhurst, and also as to every incident in his military

In concluding next day his opening speech, Mr. Hawkins informed the jury that they would have ample data supplied to them for testing the handwriting of Sir Roger Tichborne and of the Claimant. In the latter he pointed out marked peculiarities of spelling, which occur frequently. His peroration was the reverse of complimentary to the defen-dant, and wound up by charging him with perjury "the most daring and detestable." Dr. Kenealy raised a number of technical objections to the form of the indictment and the venue of the trial, which were overruled. Pick Handles. Mattocks, Abbe Salis took his place in the witness box, Bent and Straight Hand Hay Rakes, and deposed to his long acquaintance with Sir Roger and his parents while they were in Paris. In contradiction of the Claimant's evidence at Westminster be positively denied that the Louvre was visible from Sir James lichborne's house in the Rue St, Honore. Children's Silver-plated Cups, In their last interview, before the South American expedition, Roger had shown to the Abbe the tattoo marks on his forearm. His reverence, when questioned about the Claimant's identity, replied with emphasis, "Heais not Roger Charles Tichborne. There is no resemblance to him?" On the day before the departure of the mail, the Abbe Salis was cross-examined at length by Dr. Kenealy relative to Sir James Tichborne's various residences in Paris, Roger's knowledge of Latin, his attendance at mass, his private correspondence, and the tattoo mark. He acknowledged that the tattoe mark did not occur to him as a test of identity when he refused to visit the Claimant in Paris. His account of Lady Tichborne's tete malade caused some amusement in court; Dr. Kenealy obtained from him a more satisfactory opinion on the Claimant's filial senti-ment—"May the blessed Virgin have mercy on your soul." It was granted that such an invocation would be understood by a Roman Catholic. Pere Lefevre was examined by Serjeant Parry as to his recollection of Roger Tichborne's boyish babits and character. To the question if he thought the defendant was Roger, he answered even more vehemently than the Abbe, "Non, non, non." Dr. Kenealy, in cross-examining, asked if the seduction of Miss Doughty had not been alluded to at Roger's last confession before he sailed for South America. "It is an infamy," replied the priest. At the close of this important passage in the trial both the Abbe and Pere Lefevre declared that having heard the Claimant in the witness-box they

THE COMPANY IS FORMED FOR the purpose of acquiring the property known as Belmont Factory, situate on Esquimal, Harbor, as the business carried on therein, consisting of Tannin Boot and Shoe Manufacturing, and of continuing the same.

The purchase would include the Land, Buildings, Machinery, Plant, Stock-in-Trade and goodwill of the business, all of which it is proposed shall be taken at a valuation to be made by competent disinterested persons.

The Boot and Shee Department has for the past two years been carried on under the management of Mr. years been carried on under the management of Mr. switzer, almost exclusively by Chinese labor, at a small cost, but the recent addition of the Tannery, which, was found a necessity, in order to maintain a sufficient supply of good material, his required a considerable outlay, and renders the introduction of further capital necessary for the proper development of the business.

The Vactory is well arranged, and is fitted with the most approved Machinery.

The Tannery has every appliance for the saving of abor. the Water Power which is utilized for the conduct of

The Water Power which is utilized for the conduct of Works, is all that could be desired, and could readily be increased to ten time its present power, if at any time required, either for the purposes of this undertaking, or for any other Manufactory. The supply is derived from Springs on the Estate, is very soft in quality, and is never failing.

In fact the business is in thorough working order, and Mr. Switzer's service as Manager of the Werks will be retained upon terms favorable to the Company.

The Land consists of 546 acres, known as the Spring Vale Estate, some of which is of excellent quality.

The Timber is of considerable value for Firewood, the The Timber is of considerable value for Firewood, the situation being favorable for easy delivery. situation being favorable for easy delivery.

The operations of the Boot and Shoe Manufactory during the past two years have been highly satisfactory.

The goods are specially adapted to the requirements of the Provincial trade, have given general satisfaction, and at a profit successfully compete with the imported article.

and at a pront successivity compete with the imported article.

The sales for 1872 amounted to nearly $50,000, which considering the short time the enterprise had been in operation, shows the favor with which the products have been received.

The importations of Boots and Shoes as declared at the Custom House for the year 1871, was about $100,000, representing a selling value, after adding duties, etc., of say $150,000. The importation for last year fell off considerably, the decrease being doubtless partially occasioned by the local production. In addition to the demand for Boots and Shoes, as evidenced by the Customs House returns, the sales of Leather produced at the Tannery have to be taken into account, when considering the entire field for the operations of the undertaking.

The Tannery operations only commenced in August last, and as the tanning process involves a period of several months, the business of this Bepartment is in its infancy—a very superior article is, however, being preduced at low prices by an economical process, and, as there is no difficulty in obtaining an abundant supply of Hides, the outturn will be sufficient for the supply of the general demand for barness, mill belting, ske, in addition to the requirements of the Boot Factory.

The Belmont Boot and Shoe Factory was the first enterprise of its kind established in the Province, and its having been so far carried on with success is an assurnaving been so far carried on with success is an assur-nce that, as population increases, very remunerative eturns will be realised.

The value of industrial institutions to the well-being of any country is indisputable, and as the hides product in the Province are now being manufactured it leather, which in turn is made into Hoots and She &c., (instead of us formerly being exported and leather, which in turn is made into Roots and Shoes, to. (Instead of its formerly being exported and the manufactured articles in turn imported,) the saving to the country by the undertaking is sufficiently obvious. It is, therefore, not unreasonable to assume that the advantages which the prosecution of such a reproductive institution insures will, aside from the remunerative character of the business, have due weight with all who It should be remarked that this company will become to one possessed of two businesses with established onnections, without any interruption to working or use of time in transfer, and will therefore have from the ret day of its pussession a revenue from the connections, without any interruption to working or loss of time in transfer, and will therefore have from the first day of its possession a revenue from a business which is capable not only of immediate, but, in the future, almost untimited extension.

Most similar undertakings of any magnifude are now worked successfully by Joint stock' companies, both in Great Pritain and in the United States.

The transfer of the property to the Company will only be made upon terms satisfactory to the Provisional Board of Directors, based upon the valuation. The purchase will be effected to a large extent in shares retained by the present proprietor, a portion of which will not participate in any profit until a dividend of 10 per cent has first been paid to the new shareholders.

Applications for shares may be made to the Secretary protess, the Bank of British Columbia, or to Messra.
